Great content, in a story format, for busting through common non-profit roadblocks.

By C.H. Dyer

Tom Okarma knows non-profit leadership and the pitfalls that accompany doing good while building a vibrant organization. Twenty years ago, when starting to launch my non-profit organization (NPO), I wish someone had given me a book like this one. If I had, chances are I would have stepped around a few landmines and saved time, money and a bunch of headaches. For me, this book is a great gift for any new non-profit executive, board member, or leader in a fledgling organization. It is a book full of good content, the story format is easy to read and there are simple steps to help you break through the issues that bog you and your organization down.

This book could not have come at a better time! As I read through the real life ...

By Tina Sernett

This book could not have come at a better time! As I read through the real life story of someone with mounds of passion exactly like me who started an impactful non-profit, I realized I was not alone. The struggles I currently face (especially with our board of directors) were verbatim to the ones detailed in the first few chapters of the book. I felt like Tom Okarma had spent the last 5 years with me in order to write this manual for how to deal with the real problems I live with on a daily basis. As I moved into the chapters that were filled with practical solutions, I began to feel hope and realized that the light at the end of my tunnel is brighter and more of a reality than I thought. Many of the concepts and ideas for building a foundation and strategy planning have been communicated to me over the years but not in the comprehensive and holistic way they are in this wonderful book. There are step by step processes and tools that can be put to use right away. I am filled with confidence and knowledge that can help us build the infrastructure of support needed for The Sports Shed to grow and sustain! Thank you for a great book Tom.
